June 3, 2010, The Daily Star and HSBC jointly launched a national award titled "HSBC-The Daily Star Climate Awards" with the objective of encouraging local individuals and institutions working to face the challenges of climate change in Bangladesh.

The awards will be given in four categories: climate change adaptation, climate change mitigation, climate change research and knowledge management, and green business entrepreneurship.

Waste Concern is the knowledge partner for this award.

Details about the programme and nominations are available online at www.hsbc.com.bd and www.thedailystar.net.
